

Bell companies operate an "essential facility", and should have to continue to accommodate other ISP firms that wish to purchase access from them. This wholesale provisioning stimulates competition and is a benefit to the consumers. To not accommodate other ISP firms in this manner would cripple the '96 Telecom Act.

Chairman Powell, please do not allow competition to be snuffed out on your watch.